

During a weekend camping trip I stopped through at Ambrose A. Call State Park. My favorite things about this park were the rich history and the secluded feeling.

The land for the park was donated in 1925 in honor of Ambrose A. Call, the first settler in Kossuth County.

Ambrose and his brother Asa claimed the land in 1854 and built a cabin on the site. The original cabin is no longer present but this similar styled cabin, built in 1859, was moved to the park from a nearby township. I really enjoyed looking at the craftsmanship of building with elm logs and imagining what it would have been like to call this my home.

This lodge, available for rent, was built in 1928 and creates a beautiful, wooded setting for any event. There was a large family gathering there while I was taking pictures and we were even invited in for a piece of cake!

Unfortunately I didn't have my discs with me to play any disc golf, but could tell it is a wonderful course. It isn't heavily wooded enough to lose your discs, but there are just enough trees to provide shade and a good challenge.

I didn't camp at this park, but would love to go back to stay. There are less than twenty campsites and a new self-registration booth. The wooded area creates a secluded campsite for anyone and great scenery.
